

Evans Blue, Stop And Say You Love Me

Hey listen, because I'll only say this once
Do you think that you could lose yourself in me?
I could say I want to die by your side one day
But I could never speak the words
Because they haven't wrote the words that mean enough to me
So together we can burn this way
Burn this way...

Stop and say you love me, always, I'll say the same to you

I found a loop hole for us now
It's called redemption of my history
Do you think you could look past my fears
Tell me now my love
Because I will lose it in your eyes, I see firelight in your eyes
I know that things will be better when you are by my side
By my side...

Stop and say you love me, always, I'll say the same to you
Stop and say you love me, always, I'll say the same to you

I'm guarded, I'm fragile, but if anyone could ever save me now, you can
And you can...

Stop and say you love me, always, I'll say the same to you
Stop and say you love me, always, I'll say the same to you

Are you strong enough? am I enough?
Are you strong enough to say you love me?