

Even Song, Entrance Of Eternity

Crimson dreams take me far away far from reality, into an other kind of sleep
I stand before the gates of my innerself, of an unconscious world deep in my mind

With the key in my hand I open the gates a lonely spirit guiding, showing me the way

Entrance of eternity

Come closer dormant man, step inside
Take my hands and I ease your cries
I'm what you want, I'm what you need
Don't you remember me?

My soul breaks from this lonely cell of pain
Yield to the temptation of an eternal way
My guardian angel, don't let me awake
Don't let me see those bloody tears