

Even Song, Serpent

A serpent slumbers in the garden of innocence hidden from cherubs' glowing eyes Father of lust, sentinel of knowledge who saw the angels learning to fly
"I show you a world of dreams and desires a sweet asylum beyond the clouds Travel me through sunken empires to the home of joy and equilibrium While the gods were fighting for the soul of Man
I regained lost paradise
So drop the burden of millenniums and follow me my dearest child"