

Even Song, The Nameless Eidolon

Darkness devours me again the whirling, black depth of abyssmal night And he stands before me like a dreadful prophet like some ancient Mysteriarch

O those eldritch eyes they glow like sorcerous orbs like fearful stars of unseen spheres wise with the secrets of Time

I know he came for me through the vast gateways of hell passing from fearful, grey worlds hidden deep in nightmare's well

The ravenous demons of time fed upon me like vultures upon the flesh O, cryptical phantasm let me drown with the oblivious flow of non-existence

Come swiftly sublime spectre reveal the endless voids that Night does hide Spread thine empyreal wings and lead me to the vast eternity of dark