

Everclear, The Laughing World

right now day one
I fall hard
when I fall
I always fall on you face first head down eyes closed arms out to break my fall we fall down like a world of noise we get lost inside the length of our own time and the laughing world will never forget that it's when you jam that I jet

I see
I want
I reach
I fail to hold the things that I need I turn to reach for you I want to touch our life before it fades like a burning car in the sun we flame for the all in plain view
and the laughing world will never forget
that it's when you jam
that I jet