

Everlife, Find Yourself In You

She never thought that she would Get her second chance
Running so far from all she's ever known
And then she lost all meaning
Where did her dreams go
But still she knew that there was something more

Don't be scared
There's someone there
To say these words
You need to hear

Don't let anybody tell you who you are
(who you are)
It's okay to let go, you're that shooting star
(shooting star)
Remember all you wish for
Believe it will be true
You will never find yourself anywhere else
You'll find yourself in you

Sometimes people tell you
Be like me to fit in
But do you know your identity is not in them

Don't be scared
There's someone there
To say these words
You need to hear

Don't let anybody tell you who you are
(who you are)
It's okay to let go, you're that shooting star
(shooting star)
Remember all you wish for
Believe it will be true
You will never find yourself anywhere else
You'll find yourself in you

Why should I measure the world
(why should I measure the world)
By someone else's design
(with some other design)
Oh I won't let this fly by (let this fly by)
Hey, look over here I just found the real me
(look over here I just found the real me)
Now it's your turn to see
(now it's your turn to see)
Now it's your turn to see

Don't let anybody tell you who you are
(who you are)
It's okay to let go, you're that shooting star
(shooting star)
Remember all you wish for
Believe it will be true (it will be true)
You will never find yourself anywhere else
(you will never find yourself)
You'll find yourself in you
Oh yeah, you'll find yourself in you