

Everman, Changing Me

Stumbling like a beast of burden
Bowed beneath a heavy load
Time is short and the journey urgent
My future is bought and sold
Kind eyes are looking closely
Examining my broken will
But I'm not so sure its broken still

Whoever you are guiding my steps so patiently
Whoever you are you're changing me
Whoever you are all of my scars are plain to see
Whoever you are you're changing me

I am feeling the load I've carried
Slowly sliding off of my back
You are standing intently staring
I'm aware of the grace I lack
Who am I to deserve this mercy
What is it you will ask of me
I've seen enough to know nothing comes for free

I must admit that I have wondered at your love
But I am starting to believe it

Stumbling like a beast of burden
You're shouldering the load I bore
One foot out in front of the other
I've forgotten what I came here for Back straight and head held high
For the first time in my life
All I want is to travel at your side

Whoever you are guiding my steps so patiently
Whoever you are you're changing me
Whoever you are I'm not the man I claim to be
Whoever you are you're changing me