

Everman, Not Alone

Restless spirit, come
Bringing all the burdens you carry
You are not alone
You are not alone

Brokenhearted, come
Bowed beneath the grief you are bearing
You are not alone
You are not alone

All of your anger, fear and shame
All of your heartache and your pain
All of these ugly crimson stains that cover you
This is a debt that I have paid
And I am still whispering your name
Longing to wipe your tears away and comfort you

Lonely searcher, come
Turn your eyes toward all you are seeking
You are not alone
You are not alone

Weak and weary, come
Reaching out in need of healing
You are not alone
You are not alone

Desperate dreamer, come
Wandering lost and disillusioned
You are not alone
You are not alone