

Everything, Super Natural

Clouds break at sunset and I sit alone
And dream of a girl dressed in crimson and gold
I see the reflection and call out the name and just as the light fades away

Super Natural

Super Natural

Super Natural

Super Natural

Dawn splits the darkness a new day begins

The color at sunrise reminds me again

Of strawberry hair in the cool morning haze

And just as the night slips away

Super Natural

Super Natural

Super Natural

Super Natural

Blue light descends and the passion begins

The mind is at ease from the first until the end

I see the reflection and I dance through the maze

And just as the night fades away

Super Natural

Super Natural

Super Natural

Super Natural