

Exilia, I Guess You Know

I'm coming there my friend, I know the pain you have again they'll never understand you, they look at you with hateful eyes it's hard to be courageous, in a world that doesn't care for you all the reason more to be yourself just as you are

and I guess you know I guess you know
I guess you know

I don't wanna let you
I don't wanna let you down the world may be against you but I'll never let you down

Life is never fair, I know you heard those words again They never were your friends, they look at you indifferently but I guess you know I guess you know

I guess you know
I don't wanna let you
I don't wanna let you down
the world may be against you
but I'll never let you down

when everything goes wrong when nothing seems to make sense when you're feeling so small remember that you're not alone
when everything goes wrong when nothing means, nothing means nothing

I don't wanna let you down
the world may be against you but I will never let you down
and I guess you know
and I guess you know
I guess you know
the world may be against you
but I'll never let you down.