

Exit 13, Terminal Habitation

A myriad of literature aimed to educated,
Lack of much definitive progress surly frustrates,
The end of man is coming fast but few seem to care,
Understanding, but no way to change facilitates despair.
Terminal habitation.

Humanity deserved a punishment of gargantuan serverity.
Crimes against each committed out of greed, egoism, and triviality.
We are being, but few of us can be called truly human,
Humanity will overpopulate until the earth is ruined!
Terminal habitation.

Am I just fanatical to be in love with nature?
And invalid in judging man with nausea and hatred?
Inauthentic zombies caught up in trivial lies,
Egotistic habitation that causes earth to die.
Terminal habitation.
