

Exit, 53 Hours

your words seem so vague from hot lips, from your cold lips mostly forgetting more than just the topic melting eyes losing sight and breaking away fighting a memory of the touch my eyes catching hold and wishing to stay but instead only just wishing away mine so wild and taken aback on a three month ride this whole concept mirrors this never-ending dream of love, struggle for love in which no one wins, but someone seems to hurt
melting eyes losing sight and breaking away
fighting a memory of the touch
my eyes catching hold and wishing to stay
but instead only just wishing away
..