

Extreme, When I First Kissed You

New York City can be so pretty
From a bird's eye view
Because up there, yeah, that's where
I first kissed you

A modern day romance, a perfect performance
Acting like two fools
Saying silly things, whisper sweet nothings
Like young lovers only do

I was shaking, you were breathtaking
Like the Empire State
My voice was so far, not quite Sinatra
Singing songs so great

The clock struck one, the night still very young
In the city that never sleeps
The a whirlwind blew when I first kissed you
Nearly swept me, swept me off my feet

When I first kissed you
That's when I knew, oh
I was in love

Because up there, yeah, that's where
I first kissed you