

Face To Face, I Want

everybody wants the truth but everybody lies everybody wants proof
but everybody's blind
so open your eyes
I really don't know much of anything at all but I'll admit we're all the same you ask for forgiveness and make the same mistakes and I'll admit we're all the same I want to know do these words mean anything? how can this life
mean something more than what it seems?
everybody wants equality but we're all prejudice we're all hypocrites everybody wants the world but we have nothing
