

Face To Face, Youve Got A Problem

so what's the problem now this time?
I thought you'd learn by now that nothing ever works out right you want to take away the edge you tell me it's the only thing that helps you to forget you've made your promises that's not enough this time there's only so much you can squander from a feeble mind you've got a problem with your life you've got a problem with your mind don't try to tell me that you think it's gonna work out fine so go ahead and try to hide the world around you watches on as you destroy your life do what your problem says there's not a lot of time
