

Face Tomorrow, Once Again

Say you're sorry if you really mean it.
Take as much time as you need for it.
Learn the essence of a good relation.
Share just what you think of it now.

Once again you fear reaching out to me.

So it's lying in the palm of your hand.
Please don't give away this special gift.
Don't deny the way you treat the others.
Share just what you think of it now.

Once again you fear reaching out to me.

It's like your whole life is based on a lie, (in which you believe).
Do you realise you're holding back.
"Just open up?" Is all I ask.
It's like your life is missing out on what life is all about.

You're a selfdestructing mechanism.
Don't forget you have a privilege.
You're the one who has to make decisions.
Share just what you think of it now.

Once again you fear reaching out to me.
Once again You fear.
Once again.
You still fear.

It's like your whole life is based on a lie, (in which you believe).
Do you realise you're holding back.
Your view on life is not a fact.

You must remember; This is just one person's view I situate.