

Failure, Lucky Shoreline

(called/crawled) out of the (surfseats) watched the day seep in through (spur-pains) i feel strangely awake and long to breathe the song to live fixed on a different person staring blankly through the stained mirror shame of the (hair) she lost here need to breathe the (winds that chill)

saw it just too late
she fell from a lucky shoreline something in the way she yelled but i couldn't hear it leave on a lion weary watched her cringe in (opening dread) i leave my place of haven must escape the hell we've made road breaks clean and careful tracking turns across the highway i have because i am careful spinning down a (can) with her

saw it just too late
something in the way

dreamed this every way, all day but i couldn't save her brought her back okay
she's dead but nothing's missing sea meets the cliff i stand on searching sounds that break the silence her life was nothing special i take her with me now

saw it just too late
something in the way

brought her back okay
