

Fair Haven, Invisible

You know this feeling inside of me
It's got to get up and grow
This kind of thing just don't lie to me
I feel it inside my soul
I wondered about it
What has come over me
Something so strong, and it won't be long
Until I set my self free
I sometimes think that we are all just grains of sand
Or do we all want to be invisible, like the wind
Breaking down the walls
See them crumble Accept it all
'Cause I deserve freedom
Open me up
Expose the illusion
Turn this fear into love
'Cause I deserve freedom
I didn't come this far to give up now
