

Falconer, Wings Of Serenity

Oh, you graceful eagle that soar in the air, how I envy your chainless life You are calling from your sky living under the sun, just riding the winds up high.

Your cliff is your castle, you're nature's truly royal, aking in brown and grey, Look down on the foolish man competing with time, chasing his precious day

You're flying on winds of serenity into the blinding light.
You're the majesty of freedom living life at its height You're flying on wings of serenity you're soaring above the ground You are the majesty of freedom tranquillity is your crown

Oh, please let me follow you on your journey to the clouds Take me up on your wide wings and show me your world We will cross the skies new horizons we'll see, cross the slumbering landscapes and disappearing into the dawn
