

Falling Up, Broken Heart (Ghosts Of Seaside)

In this moment synchronized inside, words that paint a legacy of life
A different picture will unfold, a healing finds it's way through Sifted times I take another breath, with an ambience of nothing left
So heal my heart, rain down your love, these waters bring me back to life

Father, healer, deliver me from broken love
Stay here, closer, let me hear your voice of love

There's a healing calling from the wind, there's a healer waiting to begin
In timeless places, traced and faceless, will I learn to let go?
Take me to the heights where love controls,
Far away from home but feels so close
This empty heart of mine will fall inside and bring me back to life

Father, healer, deliver me from broken love
Stay here, closer, let me hear your voice of love

You can hold, you can mend
You can heal, you can break
I hold cause something etched this way

Father, healer, deliver me from broken love
Stay here, closer, let me hear your voice of love
Savior, Redeemer, bring me to this place of peace
Jesus, guardian, my broken heart is so in need
