Falling Up, Goodnight Gravity

Static night, I'll be leaving soon
It won't be long, no, it won't be long
'Cause I'm wearing out under nowhere's moon
It won't be long, no, it won't be long
Until I see the sun splash up the night sky
And call it out to turn the planet new

So goodnight gravity
It has kept me down
But I always get just one more try
I always get just one more try

Space between, there is such divide It won't be long, no, it won't be long 'Cause honestly there's a storm inside It won't be long, no, it won't be long 'Cause honestly there's a storm inside It won't be long, no it won't be long

And in the morning I will find my heart And in the morning I will find my heart