

Fame Factory, Shine On (Anders Johansson)

You stare at the wall and answer polite We talk of the past And how we're alright, I call for the waiter then I catch your eye the make-up tells you cried a bottle of red and tissues to go we haul in a taxi and before I know you tell me your story and all I can say is love will come your way shine on, after the pain of love has gone you'll find the will to carry on as long as you keep your dream alive somehow I know, you will shine on light up the sky I kiss the sun you know the best in yet to come, even if no one was by your side

we drive through the night and don't care about the meter in running and the lights are gone out you tell me that lonely is being alone and you're not going home the touch of your hand says way more than words we just made it home when you gave me the world blessed by the fire and warm by the flame I know you felt the same

no regrets no questions why without a need to say goodbye --- search for one to show us how to

shine on, shine on, shine on
