

Fame Factory, Without You - Album Version

Only you know what it means
The language that you speak
Only you can read your mind
The thought you hide and seek
It's so hard to breath and so hard to move
I can't eat or sleep in this lonely room

Is this what I have to go through
To be able to live my life without you
Is this what I have to feel like
To be able to live without you by my side

Only you know what it's like
The way you live your life
Only you know how it feels
To live within your dreams
And if I would run
I still couldn't hide
The torture remains 'til the end of time

Is this what I have to go through
To be able to live my life without you
Is this what I have to feel like
To be able to live without you by my side

To be able to live my life without you (without you)
To be able to live without you by my side

It's hurting so bad
It's hard to define
I want you to pass, yet stay on my mind
Illusions I had, are far from the truth
I'll never survive getting over you, oh yeah

What I have to go through
To live life without you
I feel unable to go on in life without you

Is this what I have to go through (what I have to go through)
To be able to live my life without you (without you)
Is this what I have to feel like (feel unable to go on)
To be able to live without you by my side (without you)

Is this what I have to go through
Oooohhh
Baby
Without you

Without you
