

Farewell Flight, Clear

Open my eyes

Make me alive

I've searched so long and I've tried so hard to find something to call my everything

I don't think I'd even know Your face if I could see

I've yearned so long and I've cried so hard

I'd come home, but it's hard to fly on tattered wings

The only way I'd make it back is if you carried me

Now open my eyes

Make me alive

All the things I've faced to have my way: I ran from you and it cost me everything

You never saw me as I saw myself

Now, face to face with you I swear I'd stay, even if it cost me everything

You know me more than I could know myself
