

Farewell Flight, Sleeper

Say goodbye

We've been quiet for way too long, keeping silent as our defense

See them writing on the wall

You see them pressed against the floor

You see the fire in their eyes, and yet you feel so torn? You see them falling by your side

You see their faces on your lawn

You hear them screaming in your sleep, still you sit back and watch? Wake now, oh sleeper

Wake now, it's time

Wake now, oh sleeper

Wake now it's time to be heard

You always play the fool

You always play the victim

Watching this unfold with no reply

The corporate eyes around, scoping out their targets

Out to kill the weak with no regard

All this time, no regret, no where to go

The signal's lost, we're breaking up, it's out the door

We rise to fall

We rise to fall, and its all your fault

Say goodbye