

Farmer's Boys, Heartache

Heartache
Heartache's back again
And I never thought I'd stand to feel this pain
Teardrops are falling down my face
And as each one falls another takes its place

And as I sit and watch the children laughing down the lane
I know I'll never be the same
Now that heartache's back again

Anguish seems my only friend
There's a part of me I know will never mend

And as I sit and watch the children laughing down the lane
I know I'll never be the same
Now that heartache's back again

Heartache
Heartache's back again
Heartache's back again
Heartache's back again
Heartache's back again

[MIDDLE 8]

And as I sit and watch the children laughing down the lane
I know I'll never be the same
Now that heartache's back again

Heartache
Heartache's back again