

Fatal Flowers, Nowhere To Lay My Head

I thought I saw the signs arrive
Through a haze of misty incidents
But I only got you crying
And I know I messed it up again

Now I got nowhere to lay my head
Nowhere to lay my head

Crossin' the streets on a hot summer night
There's sweat on my back and you all over my mind
Well I'm just lookin' for a place to lay my head
And I better find one soon now 'cause I'm running out of gas

Won't you please come back
Won't you please come back
Won't you please come back

Sittin' in my room countin' shadows on the wall
Tellin' myself I don't need you at all
But then I close my eyes and it happens all again
And my heart takes a walk baby right through my brain

Won't you please come back

'Cause I got nowhere to lay my head, nowhere to lay my head

I don't wanna discuss now whether who's wrong or right
I don't wanna get into some stupid little fight
I just want things the way just like they were before
And I want it now baby 'cause I can't take no more
