

Fates Warning, Exodus

Morning desert sun horizon rise above the sands of time Mystic journey to Arcana travel starry spheres in trine
Sands of the dunes dust of the bones Swallow the trace of creatures left behind Gods of the fire fall from the sky reaped all the fruit and plagued earth dry

Distant vision tempting water fall to me knees I'm going to drink it dry. Blazing desert sun reflection on the water He caught my eye Up in a tree preying on me vulture of fear why don't you let me be He said you're mine one day Spit out the sand of the mirage
Be on your way

Exodus ascend the plane Exile this medium of bondage far beyond the prophecy of tyrant guardians Traject the esoteric sisters they are mythical
Exodus ascend the plane Exuke this medium of bondage far beyond the myriads of crypt and pyramids beyond the harpy vultures guarding their tombs Arcana awaits you

Oh guardian predestination calls Silent wind I felt what you said Soon I'm exhumed for consumation He charmed my soul with his book of the dead
He read it said beat no children
He will inhere the malignant fear in man Sovreign the force more than emotion
It controls your destiny at hand

False guardian I will compel false as the fear of heaven and hell I should have known its all a mirage just as well
The power of good will not be shown by conquering fear
Let it be known its a constant resist
While facing transformation