Feeling Left Out, Even The Flux Capacitor Can't S

safe and, safe and sound your feet on the ground we only fight on holidays and anniversaries stood at the edge of the water tonight and i cursed your skyline, your skyline i think i can swim the hudson in record time i liked you better when you were you not who you are turning into tie a string around my finger to remind me to love you and when im a country away, ill be thinking of you and years from now when i'm sharing a bed with a body at least i'll pretend that it's you remember shy likeful girl naive to the world