

Feeling Left Out, Keep Me Company

It's kind of like smiling
Similar to a mouthful of candy
It's like 3:00 on your last day... of school
It's someone else's turn to play the fool

Let's take a walk and let our feet just talk

Let's reach for hands and hold hips where we stand

I'd like to introduce you to my eyes
They've been dying to meet you
Now that you both have met
I have something to dive into

I've let go of the past
Even before you asked
To ensure this ship sails smoothly, you can be the wind
And guide this ship to a safer place than this

Let's speak our words
And exaggerate the absurd
Show me your teeth
Promise to never stop smiling

I'd like to introduce you to my lips
They've been dying to meet you
Now that you both have met
I have something to hold onto

I'd like to introduce you to my heart
It's been dying to meet you
Now that you both have met
I have someone to write home to

It's ok if it's not a white Christmas
We can sleigh ride on the sand
We'll bundle up in sweatshirts and sweaters
Just don't you let go of my hand