Feeling Left Out, Keep Me Company

It's kind of like smiling Similiar to a mouthful of candy It's like 3:00 on your last day... of school It's someone else's turn to play the fool

Let's take a walk and let our feet just talk

Let's reach for hands and hold hips where we stand

I'd like to introduce you to my eyes They've been dying to meet you Now that you both have met I have something to dive into

I've let go of the past Even before you asked To ensure this ship sails smoothly, you can be the wind And guide this ship to a safer place than this

Let's speak our words And exaggerate the absurd Show me your teeth Promise to never stop smiling

I'd like to introduce you to my lips They've been dying to meet you Now that you both have met I have something to hold onto

I'd like to introduce you to my heart It's been dying to meet you Now that you both have met I have someone to write home to

It's ok if it's not a white Christmas We can sleigh ride on the sand We'll bundle up in sweatshirts and sweaters Just don't you let go of my hand
