

Feridea, Reborn in Time

My eyes closing,
shroud of gray falling
Wandering out of life and time fading out of existence

I have awoken I am reborn wandering through time and space Standing on a silvery shore staring on the eyes made of stars

We'll meet again wandering soul
It's been a while, Since we were here still in time light years away, away from time, where you just have died
But do not fear, oh fear no more child
Your journey's just begun
You have been here more than one thousand times
And you shall be reborn in time

Whirls of stars take me away
Through the cosmic time
Endless worlds in front of me
Yet again I see

Reborn in time over and over again
The way of the universe
The way of all life
Stories of all time
All stories of you and I
I am here to see
I am here to be

The death is just a lie
Through death comes life
Story has just begun

Through endless whirls of stars
Through mysteries of time
The shackles are broken

With arcane power of all
With cosmic rays we are Reborn in time

Journey is long everlasting
Now I must go, It's time to be born
I have seen it all yet I have to see it once more Wish me luck I'm going away, see I won't go astray

And so again a child was born to venture through a life
And yet again he's destined to die, just to be reborn in time

And yet again he's destined to die, just to be reborn in time...