

Feuerschwanz, The Forgotten Commandment

The seventh seal
Has been broken
Cold winter winds
Blow over dying lands

On the battlefield
You lie awoken
There - pale and grim
The reaper stands

He speaks to thee
With words unspoken
Are you truly free?
And a lucky man?

So it's written in stone
The forgotten commandment
For were not alone
We are not alone
And so it's written in stone

From holy lands
Ancient callings
Divine demands
On holy stones

God is dead
His angels fallen
Hear my command:
I shall rule alone!

So it's written in stone
The forgotten commandment
For were not alone
We are not alone

So it's written in stone
The forgotten commandment
And we shall live like
Kings on our throne
And so it's written in stone

That is not dead
Which can eternal lie
And with strange aeons
Even death may die

So it's written in stone
The forgotten commandment
For were not alone
We are not alone
So it's written in stone
The forgotten commandment
And we shall live like
Kings on our throne
And so it's written in stone