

Few Left Standing, Against All

from the start You came to disrupt and confront to start a fire to turn everything right side up never gave up knowing the end was Your death You took our illness You took our disease self-sacrifice was Your way abandoned by all embraced suffering it was You against the world Your words stand fast and true rejection didn't faze You sacrificed on the altar of the world You proved them wrong You are the true rebel
