

Fiction Family, Not Sure

How long will it take
For these ties to you to break?
They're much stronger than I thought
And I'm not sure that I'll get over you
I'm not sure that I want to

How long 'til you're gone
From every troubled thought?
'Cause you're still here to heal what's wrong
And I'm not sure that I'll get over you
I'm not sure that I want to

We both made the call and it was all me by fault
Such a beautiful view with a long way to fall
I was afraid well it could hurt to leave the safety of above
Well if it does then it's not love

How long 'til I don't feel
Like you're still right here?
Reminding me of what is real
And I'm not sure that I'll get over you
I'm not sure that I want to
And I'm not sure that I'll get over you
I'm not sure that I want to
