God will never forgive a lie like this
The moonlight beyond the window
Because of the sins for deceiving the memories
Even tomorrow becomes unclear
I'm here

It was probably mistaken from the beginning
Even sadness was predetermined
Yet I still miss that chest
I find myself crying

I want to express my feelings just once
In the dream where the warmth disappears

You're all I need, I want you to embrace me
I'm here, always, always
A moonlit night, a sigh that falls out
Shaking my fingers, I'll be waiting, I'm here

When I was a child, I believed in god
The moonlight beyond the window
I fell in love with just one person
Believing in comforting each other
You were here

You're all I need, I want you to be here
I can be happy, I'm sure, I'm sure
As if hugging a disconsolate heart
Cold fingertips, Eternally, eternally

You're all I need, I want you to embrace me
I'm here, always, always
A moonlit night, the sigh that falls out
Shaking the fingers, I'll be waiting, I'm here
