<lyrics>

Tell me the story of the soul.
Don't avert your eyes and look at me.
You think that I am nowhere.

If you were to run to an unseen place,
and forsake everything unneeded and bare you soul for all
The burden would still be too heavy

Only a dream that can be blown away
Binding together two people

Betraying the guidance of the star that shows everything,
I run up straight to the door in the heaven.
I will go on forever.

Petals of yellow loneliness
Making light of two hearts
The solitude here,
you think it will disappear?

Only now I want, rather than comfort
Rather than dry fashionable smiles
I wanted to see you center
Or so I thought

The star that shows and the future it leads to
"The real you and the real me
Surely we can go to the place we can meet"
"Betraying fate, scattering tears,
Even so I want to meet you."We will reach to nowhere landTake me to the nowhere land

Tell me the story of the soul.
Don't avert your eyes and look at me.
Petals of yellow loneliness
Were do you think those two went without turning back

Betraying the guidance of the star that shows everything,
I run up straight to the door in the heaven.

Betraying the gently smiling fate...
If you have bravery to seek me,
I am everywhere.
