

Fiddler's Green, Another Spring Song

Sometimes I return to the places in my past
Did you know nothing did last
Dreaming is a state of death, he said it's true
But I want to live so where are you

Sitting by a fire in the night
Face to face with past regrets
The flames don't give out heat, it seems
They blind my eyes
Am I bound to fall or to rise

Can you feel the shadow on my mind
When I see the light in your eyes
Can you feel the shadow on my mind
When I see the light in your eyes

I know it's still a long way to go
But when I look behind me
There are only my own footsteps in the snow
That will melt in the spring
Till then I won't turn around and wait
What the summer might bring

Can you feel the shadow on my mind
When I see the light in your eyes
Can you feel the shadow on my mind
When I see the light in your eyes