

Fifty Nutz, James D.

I've seen the world from another eye
To get another point of view of the mankind
As I see them today
See them through the eyes of a child

Innocent as a new born babe
Fascinated and amazed
By the lesser little thing

Seen from that angle there is no conscience of acts
No knowledge of the basic rules
Seen as ourselves we feel so concern

Behaviour, reaction
Now the boy is lost

People are on their own
Looking busy with their big projects.