Finch, Bury Me (Demo)

"I'm sorry, but red's my color now guess you got to me somehow this mistake has broken me she said, she said Just shut your mouth and take the blame and paint your face with the shame I know because I know Take these eyes and bury me so that I can't see your face and when you die, I wont cry I've been here before, flesh is warm but I've grown cold State your claim into my veins and scrape my face in your hands and bend me to the wall Take these eyes and bury me so that I can't see your face and when you die, I can't cry I can't justify your eyes, your eyes justify your eyes, your eyes justify your eyes, your eyes justify your eyes Take these eyes and bury me so that I can't see your face and when you die I can't cry "