Finger Eleven, For The Ocean

Without it I'm failing My heart waits in the wings alone The stages I go through Keep coming time and time and time again Do you wonder how I stay So complacent It's like waiting for the ocean To save you from the waves When you're so far under Silent Never moving You're never moving You've taken your timing So flawless executing me So fearless and hopeful Can you imagine such a scene? Do you wonder how I stay So complacent It's like waiting for the ocean To save you from the waves When you're so far under Silent Nevermind Waiting for the needle To take away the pain Until finally we numb our every border Do you wonder Did you ever wonder How I stay So complacent And I stay So complacent It's like waiting for the ocean To save you from the waves When you're so far under Silent Nevermind Waiting for the needle To take away the pain Until finally we numb our every border Our every border
