

Fireside, Layer

The saddest smile
can fill my heart with lies
To laugh or cry
that's what it's all about
I just can't figure out

I said goodnight
and hung up the phone Stayed up all night
'cause I knew you weren't alone
And all those memories
will be my death
The smell of your presence has stained my bed
I used their love
to compensate
the lack of you
But it's too late
Your pretty eyes
I'd give my life
Good reason
not to ask me out
So drink up
and get me drunk
and let it
drag me all around

The saddest smile
can fill my heart with lies
To laugh or cry
that's what it's all about
I just can't figure out
