

Fish, 13th Star

With a heart full of sky, your eyes full of moon, I left you dying, I heard you cry,
Just a fool to myself, there could be nobody else, I was lying
To even think I could survive without your love, I can't deny it.

Then you showed me the way, and I will follow,
To the end of my days; I will follow
You show me the way. To the thirteenth star.

There's point in your life, you got to reach and when you do,
You know it, and now I'm here.
If I held out my heart and offered my hand would you take it,
If I show you the way, so will you follow?
To the end of your days, will you follow?
Let me take you away,
Would you follow the thirteenth star?

There's point in your life, you got to reach and when you do,
You know it, and now I'm here.
If I held out my heart and offered my hand would you take it,
Let me show you the way, will you follow?
Will you follow the thirteenth star?

I will follow the thirteenth star.
