Fishbone, Fight The Youth

And now another story of stolen faith and tragic glory
They claim to be your friends but all the while they taunt you with lies
They tell you what to think and how to face the world around you
You never question what you know inside is lax and untrue

But take a look around We're not running anymore We're in the positive But we're ready for the war... For the war

Fight the Youth
The Youth with poisoned minds
Ignite the truth
Restore sight to these blind
Fight the youth
The youth with poisoned minds
And if they suffer it's no fault but their own

And every time I see the hatred that engulfs these children It makes me wonder if the quest for peace will someday subside I'm not afraid to wage the hopeless battles I must fight For I could never lose, I know my cause shines in the light

Take a look around We're not hiding anymore Your weapon's cowardice And we won't take it anymore... Anymore

Fight the Youth
The Youth with poisoned minds
Ignite the truth
Restore sight to these blind
Fight the youth
The youth with poisoned minds
And if they suffer it's no fault but their own

And all the feelings of a generation fed with anger Make all the choices for a future where all nightmares come true I choose to fight for youth, to fight for truth, to fight for justice I choose to heal the wounds of sacrifice made by the children
