Fishbone, Movement In The Light

There's a path for you and I to follow For our goals aren't always in our sight But now you've come to dread and fear tomorrow Were your dreams killed in your sleep last night?

Fight for what is right...
Pray for a movement in the light

Some are slaves to Rhyme, Wit and Reason Some are slave to all of what they hear To sing a different song is outright treason Is the price of freedom what they fear?

This cannot be right... Pray for the movement in the light

Hey... Hey... There's a light to guide the way Hey... Hey... The light has brought another day

For you and I should ever come together Turn away the hatred in your heart For we should find a peace to last forever Find the peace no man can tear apart

May all the world unite Pray for the movement in the light
