

Five Deez, Omni

"[Chorus]"

I know what you wanna know
I see what you wanna see
I know what you wanna know
I see what you wanna see

Now you know the way I wanna meet you
See the directions create cross-sections
Movin' me to places to soak up the lesson
Dried my tears years ago with no question
The view seems better from the back
More space to function with motion's not restricted to what I give it Completely fill your area like liquid
No untouched surface greater than what's less than expected of all men Projected a few before you elected a few
Who knew that I would be the one you had to have?
Full body massage with the words of my choice
Sound ill and it's produced with the science of math
You should keep your eye on it if you rely on it
To chase whatever makes you wanna change your fate
But understand the consequences
What exactly is this? Who exactly are you?
Are you me enough to know what I know and do you see enough?
I watch it all begin to spin over and over again
But it's never the same I feel
But when I finish this sentence what really remains?
Now I'm boarding the plane to go exist on another.

"[Chorus]"

Close that happens in this way with most
Learn digression, hate and love true
Alot of what I think based off my perception
As I travel it makes sense more than you know
And times change like the falling autumn leaves
Personalities are cemented
In this present state most people become content
No thoughts of more, only building off the now
But ??? never changes, at least we never see it
We want what will be to be beautiful and just and happy
But it doesn't work that way, it always stays the same at the end of the evening
When you lay and contemplate the sunrise and sundown
Who made the best decisions?
Was it you, somebody you know or a stranger, and if anything, what did you learn? Are you equipped or just weak with no shame?
Cause you know just what life is A collection of seconds that we watch go by
And sometimes for naught and sometimes for
But all times living with a question on your mind
Pain and freedom, fear and independence
Chances, mind games, war and wanna breathe in Unknown to known facts, insecurity
Confidence faith and sadness
Now what you know now

"[Chorus]"