

Fleetwood Mac, These strange times

These strange times I think of a friend They said was a man of the world When all the time he was