

Flesh Field, Silicon Skies

I am the reason for you to live,
As I am the one who takes away your pain.
I am man's finest day.
I am all that you strive to be.
I am the silicon skies.
I am the truth in all your lies.
As told for centuries,
I am the chosen one,
The one who stands for all.
I am divinity,
The light that turns the night to day.

The screams the damned are disguised by their form,
As they soar through the night
And the torturing storm.
Shadows move from place to place
And no one in this world is safe from hell.

The sadness that envelopes me,
I cannot breathe.
This anguish that tears at me,
On which I feed.
All I had died with you.
I writhe in shame.
All I had that was true.
And I'm to blame.

And those words that I long to speak
Are torn from me by my own weakness.
I am the king of lies.
I am the pain that you can't live without.
The silicon skies will fall
As the last man lays in death.
The sun will shine no more
As he breathes his final breath.