

Floater, Danny Boy

{{Song||Floater|star=Green}}

Danny?

Danny boy?

Danny?

That's right my name is Danny Boy,

and I like to drink at night.

I go down to the pub, where I buy myself a pint or three

I like to go out drinking, 'cause beer it is my life,

until I come home,

and lay eyes upon my darling wife.

Say,

Oh Danny won't you go home earlier tonight?

You're daughter doesn't know you,

You're giving us a fright when you say...

Say, somethings wrong with anyone who's not like me.

With you the violence just comes so easily.

You never learn, I have to teach you constantly.

With you the violence just comes.

Hush now.

You know my name is Danny Boy,

and I'll buy another round.

Then off to the market when this place closes down.

'Cause I say drinkings always done when the sun's up in the sky.

Sun is always up somewhere, it's your turn to buy.

And I say,

Oh, Danny won't you go home earlier tonight?

Your son he doesn't know you...

And you're giving us a fright when you say...

Say, somethings wrong with anyone who's not like me.

With you the violence just comes so easily.

You never learn, I have to teach you constantly.

Hush now.

Hush now!

Hush nowww!

Yeah...

Sleep.

Sleep.

Sleep.

Floating child sleep.

Sleep.

Sleep.

Floating child sleep.

Sleep.

Sleep.

Floating child sleep.

Sleep.

Sleep.

This is affectionate.
