

Fly To The Sky, For You

We're going to the same place. We too, at first,
were just passing people.

But now we give each other strength.

At this moment I'm so happy.

Although there were many hard days

When I was so lonely and when I thought it was too hard to bare,
the thing that made me realize, was that you were there.

And that we were one.

All the many sufferings and sweat that we shedded during that time,
Forget all of the pain.

From now on the trails and suffering that I'll have to face,

Because I have you, I can win over it all.

Although there were many hard days

When I was so lonely and when I thought it was too hard to bare,
the thing that made me realize, was that you were there.

And that we were one.

Always our promises will be for forever

Lets hold hands again and stand up.

Because I have you all I can protect them.

Until the days are old and hard

We're going to achieve our neverending dream.

To us, beautiful days will be for forever.